(c) Debt is the proper form of action for the recovery of penalties under this act. Cline v. Hill, Case 11. Crane v. ——, Case 53. Dallas v. Hendry, Pen. *793. Thompson v. Burfield, 1 South. *170. Miller v. Smo, 2 South. *856. The demand should state the number of trees and the other requisites in the act. And the judgment should designate the penalties. Walker v. Pierce, Pen. 424. A state of demand must not set out the cutting of each tree separately, nor specify the kind of trees. It may claim in a body, the amount of all the penalties demanded, for the whole number of trees cut. The demand must set out each separate, distinct offence. In penal actions, it is not sufficient for the plaintiff in general terms, to charge the defendant with the commission of ten or any other number of offences, but he must set them out with certainty. Hill v. Herbert, Pen. *794. A state of demand must state where the land is. The land itself described. Matson v. Peelerton, Pen. *425. It must state that the defendant had neither right nor permission to cut the trees. Miller v. Smo, 2 South. *856. (c) What act of the legislature has been violated, must be averred. Miller v. Smo, 2 South. *856. In actions for timber, brought in the court for the trial of small causes, the defendant may, on plea of the general issue, give in evidence his possession as owner of the land on which the timber was cut. Hill v. Carter, 1 Harr. 27.
